DayCasion Eulogy Preparation Guide

For “My Eulogy Information (AI-assisted)”

This printable copy is for planning and note-taking. To upload your answers, type them into the Word or text version of this guide (handwritten or scanned pages can’t be read).

This guide helps you tell DayCasion what you would like said about your life. When your Legacy process begins, DayCasion uses what you write here, with AI, to prepare your eulogy. Your Legacy Executor receives only the finished eulogy, never this guide, your answers or your notes.

How to use this guide

- Every question is optional. Skip any of them, answer in any order, and write as much or as little as you like.
- The questions are only suggestions. You can write about anything, and the last section, Additional Information You Want Included, has room for everything else.
- Write in your own words below each question. There is no length limit: in the Word version the answer boxes grow as you type, and in the text version you can add as many lines as you need.
- Please keep the question headings as they are. DayCasion uses them to find the tone you want (question 10) and the subjects you would prefer to leave out (question 9).
- Include real names, places and dates for anything you want mentioned. DayCasion never invents details you have not given.
- If you want your exact words read, such as a message to loved ones, put them in quotation marks.

When you are finished

- Save the finished guide as a Word document (.docx), PDF or plain text file (.txt).
- Go to import.daycasion.com, sign in, choose your My Life profile, then Import My Eulogy > My Eulogy Information (AI-assisted).
- Files can be up to 10 MB with up to about 150,000 characters of writing. The text must be typed: scanned or handwritten pages can’t be read.
- You can upload an updated version at any time until your Legacy process begins.

Already written a finished eulogy that should be read exactly as you wrote it? Don’t use this guide. Choose My Completed Eulogy (No AI) instead: it is delivered word for word and is never sent to AI.

1. What would you like people to remember about you?

Optional.

2. Which important people should be mentioned?

Optional. Include how you would like each person described, for example “my sister, Anna”.

3. What accomplishments are you proudest of?

Optional.

4. What happy or funny memories best represent you?

Optional.

5. What challenges shaped your life?

Optional.

6. What values guided you?

Optional.

7. What stories reflect your personality?

Optional.

8. What messages would you like to leave loved ones?

Optional. Put any words you want read exactly as written in quotation marks.

9. Are there topics you would prefer not to include?

Optional. Your eulogy will leave these out, even if they appear in your memories or Life Story.

10. What tone would you like your eulogy to have?

Optional. For example: warm, celebratory, light-hearted, simple, formal or faith-based.

Additional Information You Want Included

Is there anything else you'd like DayCasion to know when preparing your eulogy? Include additional stories, relationships, accomplishments, personal messages, important events, or anything else you want remembered. Use as much space as you need.

Continue on extra pages if you need more room.
